Arrival from Bingiana.

The bark Naworth, Captain J. Kelly, arrived from London yesterday, making the passage in 167 days. She brings a cargo of con tons of general merchandise, 150 tons of which are asval stores. The vessel sailed from Lenden on April 16th, and took her departure from the Lizard on April 19th. On the 28th day out crossed the line in the Atlastic in longitude 26° W. Experienced heavy weather off Cape Horn; was for 14 days forereaching against strong westerly gales. When off the Hern shipped several heavy seas, one of which carried away the booby hatch and did other considerable damage about the decks. After rounding the Horn, from 40° S. to port, experienced a succession of light, variable winds; only took in the royals once during that time. Had the M. E. trades but for three days, and then very light and uncertain winds. On Sept. 21st exchanged aiguals with H. M. S. Scylla, bound for this port. The Naworth is consigned to Messrs. Sproat & Co., and will commence discharging at their wharf to-merrow. too tons of general merchandise, 150 tons of OPENING NIGHT AT THE SEATING RINK .-Forty or fifty persons, most of whom were young men, were present last evening at the St. Nicholas Skating Bink,—opening of the season. Many of these were pupils of last year; there were beginners also among them, as might be naticed by the careful manner in which the circuit of the hall was attempted to be made. The floor of the large room has been renovated and otherwise improved for the forthcoming season.

CLOSING FOR THE WINTER .- We understan that both Banks intend this year to discontique their agencies at the mines during the winter. The How Line of Steamers.

From the San Francisco Bu'letin of Sep mber 23rd we copy the following :- Feme onthe since we published the fact that a British company had organized to place a line of iron steamships (propeliers) between this port and Japan and China. From a private letter received in this city from an uninterested party, we quote:

"London, August 21, 1872. Three large ocean steamships are already ompleted, and another is nearly ready, to be run by the British Pacific Mail Company netween San Francisco and Hong Kong and Netween San Francisco and Hong Kong and Yokohama. Burrell & Co. of Hong Kong are said to have earnestly encouraged the enterprise, and have taken stock in tand been appointed agents at Hong Kong. This may or may not be true, for I doubt if they will appoint an American house agents for a British line of steamers. The line is to be inaugurated very, soon, and should it prove a failure, the steamers are to be placed on the South American route. They are all provenance will be the facts of the facts of the assemblage of the Court in Geneva, exchanges the verification of the powers of its members, and presentation of the English and American cases by the agents and the South American route. They are all provenance will be the facts of the f

From a creditable source we learn that the statement of the agency of Messrs. Burrell & Co. in Hong Kong is correct; that a Mr. Green, of the London and San Francisco Bank, in this city, is one of the managers of the line; and that a prominent American firm will be agents in this city. It is expected the first steamer of the line will leave flong Kong on or about the list of January; also, that from the improvements in engines (which are compound), using a minimum of coal in connection with the sails, on a more northern route, that the steamers will not only carry larger cargoes, but will make much quicker passages across the Pacific than is done by the present line of side wheelers. The inauguration of this new line of steamers will not only tend to reduce the present rates of freight and passage, but will also tend to divert a large portion of the tea trade which new goes by sailing vessels to Great Britain and New York.

[This is the line, a synopsis of the prospectus of which we published some months ago, and which it is intended will make a British Columbia port a port of call.—Eo.]
